Introduction

We all want to have a wonderful life filled with beautiful experiences, vibrant health and authentic deep relationships. We want to live effortless lives with each day filled with inspired projects, exciting adventures and truly enjoy each moment breath and heartbeat. We also share the desire to touch other lives in meaningful ways and perhaps leave a meaningful legacy that continues to bless long after our journey is over.

For most, these desires have been suppressed as life seems to dictate agendas that keep us preoccupied with survival and daily living routines that appear inescapable. Careers, various roles and programming since birth have instilled in the collective conscious the survival of the fittest mentality and that success is based on certain criteria based on a corporate driven consumer society.

Living Love's Vision shows how to transform your life into the amazingly beautiful effortless life that is rightfully yours, right here, right now. Let's get started on living the vision Love itself has for your life, the greatest life possible for you!

1. Love Defined

It is said that the Tao that can be named is not the true Tao. As soon as words are used it puts into limited form what words cannot describe. Love itself as defined in Living Love's Vision falls into this realm as well. Allow yourself to trust that Love itself will speak to your heart of that which is beyond language to describe.

The universe is 'impulsed' or directed by a force. The natural laws dance in perfect harmony to this power. Encoded within all aspects of creation is the unerring ability to obey the natural laws dictated by this force. These laws are never broken, they can be used in ways that make them appear to be broken, but they in truth are not. A huge iron ship sailing on water does not sink as other laws work in harmony with the laws of flotation. Similarly, the laws of the universe can be used by us. Whether a whole mountain or a tiny pebble was in the sky, they each as easily would fall to the earth. Gravity doesn't know limits or big or small. The universe equally can supply us in an unlimited fashion and does not know limits.

The earth and entire universe is filled with incredibly complex forms. The designer of these can be said to be Love. Beautiful sunsets of ever changing hues, the perfect flow of galaxies and atoms, right down to the trillions of cells in your body, these were all first a thought in the 'mind' of Love. Love can be said to be the Intelligence and force that has called all that is into being in every dimension that exists. Love already knows all possibilities and all potentials, already knows all that has ever been, is now or ever will be. Love also knows all potentials of what can be. Love is infinite in nature and in every aspect and ability to bring into form whatever it visions.

Many terms are used in language for words that have completely different meanings. I can pound with my hammer or buy a pound of berries. The word love is just a word until it is put into a context. The reason the word Love is used in Living Love's Vision, and is also capitalized, is because it is the one word that most aligns with what is being described. Yet, it is about as close to describing what Love is as using the word 'wet' to describe the entirety of every ocean, river, lake, and property of water.

Fortunately, the Living Love's Vision process is not about 'informing' but rather it is about 'transforming'. It is not about belief but rather about being. Love itself reveals more of itself as you are ready and willing to receive. Love is not partial to any given religion or person over another anymore than the Sun is more partial to any given flower or blade of grass. Love simply is Love.

Love in its fullness really has no name. It is that which is beyond all descriptions. Religions have used words like God, Allah, Yahweh, Great Mystery and such. Scientists have used words like Unified Field or the Matrix to define this force. Spiritual and ancient wisdom teachings have used words like Universal Mind, Prime Creator, Divine Intelligence, the Essence, Christ Consciousness, and the Light.

A rose is still a rose regardless of what it is called, so is this force. This force is not neutral in its nature. It has an agenda which is perfect and beyond imagination in its full scope and beauty. In time the reason why we have experienced the appearance of seemingly painful experiences and hurts will be more fully understood. In a nutshell it is because we have been given the ultimate privilege of being free will beings. We have the choice individually and collectively at all times to either through free will express Love or whatever else we as free will beings choose.

Until we choose Love fully the 'lessons' will continue. That is glossing over a very deep topic which a full book is required to deal with. Suffice it to say that Love is temporarily allowing things that are for the highest good of free will beings that are eternal and infinite and in reality never 'die' only change forms. Living Love's Vision is the means by which we can experience awakening and inner growth. Thus, we can be in such alignment with the flow of life and the very reason for our existence that heaven on earth is expressed through us and becomes our experience.

Love has a vision. Its vision is paradise on earth, Garden of Eden conditions and all that entails. It has an even grander vision of each person being so yielded and surrendered and flowing in the power of Love that more and more of this endless sea of potentials can be expressed through and as us. We are ever emerging in the school of learning to be in alignment with Love itself. We are and will always be free will beings with the power to decide how far and deep we will evolve further at any given time into the vision Love itself has designed us to be and to experience.

Love is beauty, harmony, serenity, wisdom, compassion, mercy, gentle, a master artist, infinitely powerful and intelligent. Love resonates in the highest frequency of that which is good and kind, desiring effortless life to fully experience in each present moment its fullness and majesty. Love is the ultimate teacher for us. Love is so intimately interwoven with us that Love IS us. Love does not simply flow through us; Love has its very being through us as us. The essence of who you really are is this Love, wow!

2. Transformation

Living Love's Vision is the means by which your life can go through a transformational process directed by Love. It is only limited by your own free will, allowing or not allowing Love's perfect way. This process is a daily practice that can shift every area of your life into beautiful experiences. This shift will at times be gradual and at other times quantum leaps and exponential growth will occur. It is endless in its nature and only limited by your allowing and attention to it.

Transformation means to change forms. We are constantly changing our forms physically, our beliefs and every other aspect of our being. Living Love's Vision is about allowing each area of our life to transform into the greatest potentials possible. Through this process the life you really want at a core level is yours without the 'baggage' carried prior to shifting into Love's vision.

We are in a sea of infinite energy. Energy is neither created nor destroyed; it simply changes from one form into another. Similarly, all of the energies, circumstances, experiences and dynamics of our unique personal life have the ability to transform into ever expanding and more magnificent expressions of Love itself.

Everything that exists was first a thought. From that thought the mental equivalent of it coalesced into form. All that is created from a new song, invention, work of art, idea, all that is created comes from this sea of infinite potential. From this infinite potential the infinite sea of energy manifests into form what was first simply a thought. From this thought the mental equivalent of the 'thing' is brought into the unified field which energetically attracts all that brings the 'thing' into manifestation.

This is also the process Love itself uses to bring into existence everything that is substantially real. Everything from universes filled with galaxies to the tiniest imaginable things, Love has used 'visioning' to make it manifest. Love has a 'vision' for each one of us. That vision is why we are here now and experiencing everything being experienced. As we align with Love's Vision our experiences transform and thus our lives become fuller, richer, inspired and filled with passion.

Love desires for you to have an effortless & abundant life fully enjoying each moment, now is the time!

3. What Love Wants From You

Living Love's Vision is about experiencing life, fully and as deeply as you can possibly imagine. It is living an effortless life filled with ever increasing true abundance, vibrant health, centered and grounded yet on the edge of what is emerging next. It is about living a passionate and inspired life filled with newness and excitement.

We are not our bodies. We use the body to broadcast the show which is our life here and now on planet Earth. Our physical body is our vehicle for the journey here. It allows us total connection to experience all that is on the planet while accompanied by others who are on their journeys here and now alongside us. Our body can bring us great pleasure or other experiences as well during our journey.

We are unique free will beings made in the very likeness or image or form of Love itself. We are Spirit, or Life, we are consciousness having experiences in the dimension that planet Earth allows while we are in physical form. Love itself is ever emerging into new expressions of itself. Love is ever expanding in all dimensions wondrous expressions of its being and creativity. Love itself has chosen through infinite free will to create the highest expressions of Love itself. There is no greater beauty or experience or state of being than what Love can imagine. This vision is fully expressed through Love itself.

What Love wants is for each of us through our free will to yield to Love just as the Master Artist, Essence, Love itself has. The reason we do not have paradise on earth right now is because free will beings have chosen a lesser experience. To the degree we individually and collectively resonate in Love this paradise will become manifest.

Love has already given us all we require here and now. We cannot blame Source for suffering on the planet. Suffering is the by-product of not moving in alignment with Love's vision. Love allows our free will to express in whatever form we grant it. Love also allows the outcomes of these actions to be manifest as well. As we align with Love's vision the outcomes of Love express which brings about the beautiful life we desire. Ego is a neutral sense within us. It is the aspect of our beingness that allows us to be aware of our unique life being expressed in the body. This is the world's identity for the unique 'I Am' that we each are.

Often through the journey it is possible to attach perceptions to our unique ego that are illusions. Wayne Dyer wrote ego is 'Edging God Out'. Any sense of 'us versus them', competition or a belief of being better than another is not in alignment with Love. A belief that the gifts, talents, physical form, possessions, career, or status in life possessed are factors that make one greater than another are illusions again not in alignment with Love.

Love wants us to recognize all that we are is because of Love itself expressing these qualities through us. Any given person is to be celebrated equally regardless of whatever appearance is being projected at this moment. The 'least' among us is as essential as the 'greatest' and each life is to be equally honoured, cherished, and celebrated. We are all unique expressions of this Love. Love wants us to be open minded in our understanding, regardless of how much we know there is yet an infinite amount more. Love wants us to express the traits of Love itself.

Love simply wants one thing from us. It wants for us to be Love as well.

4. The Process of Living Love's Vision

When we live in Love's vision our life is in alignment with our purpose of being here. Our true calling or mission is expressed and upon our departure the world is a far better place because we were here. Our inner being is filled with a sense of knowing that what we are doing has meaning. Through the process of unfolding in Love's vision we discover it's not about 'getting' stuff from the world as much as it is about 'letting' Love have its perfect expression both through and as us. A profound understanding that we don't need to change anyone or anything occurs as we understand that it is Love that does the changing. Our saying yes to Love gives Love permission to work through us. Lives and circumstances are profoundly changed around us through the Love flowing through and as us.

Love is the healer; Love makes a way where there was none previous. Love gives the visions, the songs, the inventions and all else while empowering us to express these things into being as we say yes to Living Love's Vision. Love brings perfect outcomes and solutions and is infinite in its ability to supply all that is required.

A copper wire has the ability to carry an electric current through it. If the wire is connected to a power source a great deal of power can flow through it. We also have the ability to have the power of Love flow through us. Just as electricity has a source, so do we. We are designed to both flow in and as this power. This power has been manifested and used in ways that has dramatically changed the experiences of generations to follow through simple people simply saying yes to Love.

Recently Gandhi, Mother Teresa, and Martin Luther King are a few of the many who held Love's vision.

Transformation is an inside job. The process of transformation comes from within and expresses outward rather than external circumstances creating the shifts. The inner shift comes first then the outward shifts manifest into alignment with the inner work done.

You are hard wired to flow in Love. It is your natural state of being. It is the authentic real you. The process of Living Love's Vision is thus not about getting anything but rather allowing what is already rightfully yours to be manifest.

Living Love's Vision is always here and now. Fullness of life and experiencing its richness is not about waiting for some future event or living in the past. It is allowing Love this moment to have its perfect expression. It is breathing each in and out breath in awareness of the precious beauty of this moment. Love's vision is not dependent upon any current outward conditions. Each moment anywhere you are is an opportunity to flow in Love and express Love. Red lights while driving or store line ups become a welcome oasis for yet another moment to be in the stillness and flow of the presence of Love.

What we put into our body temple and allow in our mind and experience dictates what will flow out. Our bodies are hard wired for foods that are designed for us to eat for maximum health. Good organic and locally grown foods assist as the more vibrant our bodies are the easier it is to maximize our potentials. We are also hard wired to access spiritual 'food' and become nurtured by spending a fair amount of time in nature. Long hikes, sitting on the beach, walking in the forest or enjoying gardens, the incredible natural wonders all around us greatly assist in the process of Living Love's Vision.

The process of coming into fullness of Love is about letting go of past beliefs and energies that no longer serve us. Fear or false evidence appearing real is often a big one requiring release. It is said that only two things really motivate us and that is fear and Love and that fear is the opposite of Love. Perfect Love does cast out fear.

Fear can be anything that suppresses fully saying yes to Love's vision for our life. Security is a big one in this area. Many have built careers based around what they believed they should do rather than what Love would have them do. Many have accumulated possessions that are actually suppressing their ability to move in full expression of Love. Hence, things like a career or possessions that once were the goal to acquire for happiness become the very things that block real happiness from occurring. This is sometimes the case with relationships as well.

There is nothing wrong with careers or owning lots of possessions. Love itself really owns all there is and has made an eternal career out of expressing more and more Love. The process of Living Love's Vision is to seek and move into Love's vision of your life. That means placing Love above and before career, possessions or anything else. Once there is alignment of Living Love's Vision, then Love itself will direct you to the perfect balance of every aspect of your life including career, relationships and possessions.

Living Love's Vision is a process rather than instantly turning on a switch to arrive at a certain destination. Life is about growth, transformation and emerging into ever more wondrous expressions of Love. A five year old is a perfect five year old, yet within the five year old is a six year old emerging and so on. So it is with us regarding the next phase of our personal growth. How far can you grow in this incarnation on the planet? The answer is as far as you allow Love's vision to express through you.

Whatever we place our attention on is what we experience and become. The practice of Living Love's Vision is a moment by moment practice. It is mastered when we flow in and as Love in each moment.

Love is always right here, nearer than your very body

5. Becoming Love

We already are Love so becoming Love really is about allowing it to flow freely through our life. Water can take on a lot of properties that are not pure water. Water can be polluted and thus undrinkable and unhealthy to ingest. Similarly, people are like water in that even though we are all Love, and that is our true nature and state of being, we can be polluted by other substances. Fear, jealousy, hatred, anger, illusions and deluded thinking are such toxins. We can have poisons such as believing war or fighting is an answer. Greed that places a personal agenda above the good of the planet and others, or a belief in limitation and the need to take from others in order to have more are also such toxins.

Purifying water is not about getting more water that is the same polluted water; it is about releasing the impurities from the water so it returns to its pure state of being. We are the same. Becoming Love is about removing the toxins in our life so that we are pure Love, which is our natural state of being. It is what we are designed to be.

The reason it is a process is because we have free will. The same aspect of our being that frees us from the toxins is the same that enslaves us. We decide in each moment, we vote with each thought, old pattern and programming or Love's new vision filling us. The process is like the Indian wisdom passed down about two wolves living in us and the one that lives is the one being fed. Becoming Love is about feeding the Love wolf within us.

Becoming Love is allowing Love to govern our decisions knowing only then will the best outcome arrive. We will understand that every day is an opportunity to allow Love to show up and teach us more of its ways. Becoming Love allows us the freedom to no longer need to control outcomes or people or circumstances. We live in the understanding that Love is gently prompting each and every heart as much as it is your own. Whatever is occurring is perfect for Love to demonstrate what must be created and manifested. Your role is simply to allow Love to effortlessly flow through you.

Becoming Love shifts your priority from being successful to being useful and used by Love. The world's vision of success is almost always not Love's idea of success. Becoming Love also shifts the priority of 'winning' or being first to the priority of doing the best you can for Love to express in the circumstance and celebrating the gifts and talents being expressed through others. We are meant to celebrate the greatness we all are, becoming Love allows this.

Becoming Love is to see through the eyes of Love, hear the song Love would sing, speak the words Love would speak, and give what Love would give. Becoming Love is to allow the bliss, the ecstasy, the serenity, and moments of heavenly experiences to frequently fully enrapture you. Becoming Love changes priorities in life dramatically. Many things that appeared as so important prior to awakening seem insignificant as the shift occurs. Addictions fall away as new visions occur and the reasons for the addictions are now cured and healed, so these no longer serving any purpose. Becoming Love brings true freedom.

Becoming Love is to shine like the Sun

6. The Shift

A very common state of being is what can be defined as living in an unconscious state. The person is in a state of action then reaction, cause and effect over and over again. In this state the prevailing cultural religious views are held while activities are based on the culture's standards. The corporate and government powers hold sway over this individual. A strong desire to 'fit in' and be 'normal' is a priority in this state as well. This person is enslaved to the conditions around them as they go through life daily attempting to keep up with what they perceive as what is expected of them. Family often are strong suppressers as well because of their own fear based lives. A person moving in a conscious aware state is no longer governed or swayed by these energies. They understand the world they were born into has been shaped by the unconscious people that have gone before them who simply repeated what was given to them at their birth.

In each moment we are either moving in a victim mentality of being enslaved by the prevailing cultural energies, or we are creating a new paradigm both for our self, those around us and those to follow. Victim or creator, it is your choice at all times. A person who has shifted into Love's vision holds the vision of Love and thus introduces it into each situation. The resonant frequency of Love is the greatest power there is, it always hits the mark.

Prior to shifting a person depends on outside sources for their happiness and security. These people will work at jobs they dislike and spend a great amount of time daily attempting to get and keep possessions. It's not enough they struggle ceaselessly to obtain a certain lifestyle; they also spend great amounts of energy preparing for the future.

A person who has shifted understands all that they require is already theirs. Rather than focusing on external things purchased to bring pleasure the greatest joys are enjoyed each and every moment. We are designed to be fulfilled by the simple things of life that are free. Things like watching a butterfly dance among the flowers, the Sun on the face, a sweet fragrance on a summer eve. The endless works of art each moment given by Love itself brings great enjoyment. We were designed for these things to bring pleasure. A beautiful authentic discussion with a real person is far more precious than the most intriguing television show punctuated by continual commercials designed to keep you programmed in an unconscious state.

A person who has shifted has a shift in priorities. It is understood that an expensive vacation to a faraway destination still leaves the person with themselves where ever they go. The simple pleasures of inward journeys bring fulfillment far more so than attempting to find joy externally in another location. When a person who has shifted does travel, they recognize the beauty of home can be celebrated wherever they go because home is simply wherever they are.

Prior to shifting the actions, opinions, and relationship status of others is important. There is an attempt to 'own' or control the actions of others. This is particularly true in couple romantic relationships. There is a sense of possession and ownership. When the other person does not meet their expectations in the 'contract' increasing negative energy fields prevail.

A person who has shifted does not require nor desires to possess or be possessed. They seek only the highest good for the other and give complete freedom for them to experience their life journey freely wherever that may lead. A person who has shifted recognizes the other person does not bring fulfillment, Love alone within them does. Any relationship of being lovers is a celebration willingly entered into as Love itself is directing. Freedom is the foundation of an awakened couple in a romantic relationship. The irony is that in such freedom the deepest and most sacred bonds of true Love can freely entangle hearts into oneness that the unawakened cannot enter into.

There is a saying "as above, so below". Perhaps a better saying would be "as within, so without". Shifting is an internal process of observing all that is and making the choice to allow Love to express fully through you. It occurs internally within your being and then expresses outward. It is yielding to Love's vision and allowing Love to govern your thoughts, your being, actions, and all that you are. By surrendering old beliefs and programming to Love your life becomes aligned with the heart of Love itself. You then become one with the vision of the Creator. In this alignment you have full access to all resources from the supreme power of all that is.

Surrendering is not giving anything up. Rather, it is emerging into the next stage of your growth and empowerment. A caterpillar surrenders to the jelly like cocoon phase of life before it emerges as a butterfly. Each seed surrenders to the soil and is buried prior to emerging into its full design potential. Surrendering to Love's vision and becoming one with Love is why we are here. Anything less and your greatest potentials are not fully being realized into form.

Each one of us is an aspect, a facet of the one diamond which is this Love. Each one of us has unique visions and ways to express this Love. Love itself is always emerging, unfolding, and creating. Visions emerge and new ones will forever continue to arise. The one constant though is Love itself being the prompter of each vision as we live lives flowing in this Love. You don't need to know how the universe will generate the means, you simply need to be willing and follow Love's promptings in each moment. This brings about the beautiful shift.

7. Modalities and Techniques

There are many ways to assist in growth. Living Love's Vision is not a path but rather a state of being. Whatever modalities or techniques that enhance this growth is to be welcomed. Love itself is ever expressing in new and wondrous ways. Whatever modality or technique is bringing you a greater sense of alignment with Love is good to follow. Here are some modalities and techniques that bring about powerful results in shifting.

Meditation is at the top of the list. Meditation in nature is even better. There are many formal and informal types of meditation. They are like different types of food serving unique purposes in growth. Love itself will guide you into what is right for you at any given moment. The www.livinglovesvision.com website has guided meditations you can download. Making a daily practice of meditation is essential to being connected in ever deeper ways.

Feeding your mind on spiritual teachings is of benefit. There are many amazing authors, videos, material online, etc. to keep the excitement of the explorations fresh and new. Learning is a tremendous benefit in the awakening process. Connecting and being in a community of others on the journey is part of growth as well. Retreats, workshops, courses, gatherings and becoming part of a circle of people in the local community are of great benefit.

Using affirmations is also a wonderful technique for staying focused. You can make up your own with statements such as “I live each moment in and as Love”. Affirmations are a means of shifting the programming of past beliefs. Gratitude is a powerful tool as well. Giving thanks for all that is and remembering certain things and giving heartfelt thanks for them aligns the heart. There is always a myriad of things for which to be grateful.

Growth and shifting and Living Love’s Vision does not hinge so much on understanding any particular concepts, teachings, or beliefs. It hinges on awareness, feeling and a conscious relationship with Love itself. It is a knowing that you move and have your being both in Love and as Love. Any concepts, beliefs, or teachings that instill a deeper relationship with Love are useful for that purpose.

Holding Love’s vision in your mind’s eye is essential. Know Love has a perfect plan and releasing into it. We see only a very small glimmer of what is happening via incoming information from our body’s five senses. Love already knows all possible outcomes and potentials and has created the perfect outcome for you. Holding Love’s vision keeps you centered through the shifting sands of life when what appears real isn’t real. Love changes everything. Holding this vision will remind us of that.

Affirmative prayer is a type of spiritual prayer that is highly effective. It is a means of connecting with Source and then calling into existence what is declared. It is the most powerful type of 'prayer'. It is also called spiritual mind treatment.

Five Step Science of Mind Affirmative Prayer

1. Recognition of Source (God)
2. Unification (your oneness with God)
3. Declaration (stating Love's vision)
4. Gratitude (thankful it is now so)
5. Release (letting it go)

Recognition, the first step acknowledges God or whatever you want to call the essence. However you identify the prime first cause or 'source of all that is' it is now brought into the mind's eye. Words that describe the characteristics of this all pervasive power are brought forth as the feelings of knowing it is so here and now rise up.

Unification, the second step, is about feeling your oneness with this Power. The sense of knowing that you are not separate from this Source, that you move and have your being within it as well as being one with it are felt in this second step.

The third step is declaration of what is. Everything that manifests is first a thought and from the energy of that thought manifests into form. Declaring that your vision is now so generates the mental equivalent through which it comes into being. Again, it is the vision and feeling that is essential. The words used are simply a means to produce the feeling tone, the vision of what is declared.

The fourth step of gratitude expresses the feeling that what was declared is now received.

The fifth step releases your affirmation into the universe knowing it is now forming into being. Any affirmative prayer that is in alignment with Love's vision will be successful. Here is an example of an affirmative prayer declaring that Love's perfect expression for my life now is manifest.

There is one Universal Mind that has formed all that is. This Essence is a Master Artist. Every flower, sunset, the oceans and endless skies are formed within this Consciousness. This Divine Intelligence is Love itself. It expresses Love and responds willingly and freely to Love's vision throughout the cosmos and in each individual life.

I move and have my being within this infinite creative force. I flow in unison with the heartbeat of this Master Artist. The Love expressed by the Master Artist is the same Love I move and have my being both in and as. My life is in resonance with the author of all life. I am a fountain of life drawn from the infinite sea of life itself and the author of all life.

I declare that Love now directs my thoughts. My life is an expression of this Love. The body of all my affairs, business, personal, thoughts, every aspect of my being, they all now fall into perfect alignment with Love's vision for my life. Every word I speak, every thought I allow, every intention and action are now governed by Love. I allow Love to fully express as me, in me, as who I am now. I am Love. I am immensely thankful that Love has filled me with fullness of life. There is no greater place within all dimensions or time than to be centered in perfect alignment with Love. My heart leaps in gratitude that Love is who I now am. I release this truth knowing it is what is. It is done. So be it. Yes!

8. Universal Laws

Love has many characteristics. One aspect of Love is its' constant never changing, always remaining the same nature. Love is like a fountain that remains the same as the waters flow through and as it. Love is constant in its nature. We can completely move in reliance and trust in this aspect of Love's faithfulness.

Love brought into existence at the birth of this dimension universal laws that both sustain and keep the creation orderly. It is through these laws that we access the 'keys to the kingdom'. Imagine a world where gravity only sometimes worked and could not be relied on. We can be grateful that the universal laws are constant. Through these laws we have the freedom to be on planet Earth in human form and experience this incredible journey of learning more of the ways of Love.

The laws were spoken into existence by Love. This dimension was brought into existence to be a home for consciousness, including us, to have a home base in which to experience life. There are no exceptions to the universal laws. They always work. Any appearance of an exception is simply other laws inter playing in a dance that is perfectly in sync with the laws. Sometimes I marvel in shoreline meditations how each drop of water perfectly flows in obeying these laws as the waves flow in and out while every leaf and cloud dance in perfect harmony of always precisely following the universal laws.

A characteristic of universal laws is that they cannot be seen. We witness the effects of the laws in every moment of life but not the laws them self. Love has this characteristic as well. We also witness the life force in others and recognize they are spirit just as we are. Yet, their personal journey is theirs as ours is uniquely ours. We are each branches of one tree. It is through witnessing the effects of Love and the universal laws that we learn the character of Love.

Science has clearly demonstrated the physical realm of 'things' is an illusion. What appears hard and real like cars, walls, rocks, and everything else, is simply energy moving in designed orderly patterns. These patterns of energy are governed by the universal laws. All that is exists and is upheld by these unseen forces.

This force is not blind, there is a purpose and intention to all energy flows. The Master Artist of all creation is a creative personality and uses the infinite supply of energy as the palette and the universal laws as the brush and 'paint' it creates with.

In this sea of creation we are not just observing and witnessing it all. We are actually co creating with the Master Artist. We have been given our very own palette and brush to create whatever we vision on the planet. Our free will is similar to a universal law in that Love itself will not interfere with our free will. We are powerful beyond our imagining, literally.

The current state of the world is based on our collective contributions to the planet as a human family since the beginning of our sojourns on the planet. What we have inherited upon our arrival is what those who have gone before us chose consciously or unconsciously to leave as a legacy. Their paintings are the world we experience at birth.

Religious beliefs, cultural conditions and rules, government powers, corporations, elite people controlling others' lives, slavery, environmental destruction, all of it is the legacy we have been given. It is now our turn to manifest a legacy to express and create here with our own 'palette and brush' as free will beings.

Through this entire collective journey Love itself has been like the Sun forever shining upon each person. The effects of each person's unique responses to Love have sustained the planet through millennia of countless journeys. The effects of each person's unique responses to not allowing Love has brought about untold suffering and blockages to having a paradise on Earth. These fear based responses often center on greed, a need to control and possess things, and placing one's self above others.

This is why Living Love's Vision is so essential. We all want a beautiful world and an abundant full life. It is only through Love that this becomes manifest individually and collectively. Your free will being painting the picture Love would paint is the answer.

It is understood that all physical things are energy. Energy and the word 'light' are interchangeable here. On a deeper level the light or energy is the effect of consciousness. Universal Mind expresses within its' own beingness all that is. We literally are in the 'mind' of Divine Source. We are also this consciousness. We are aspects of this Universal Mind forever expressing, creating, and observing this grand master artwork called the universe.

We are not alone or simply set adrift on the planet to through our free wills totally destroy or enhance the world. Love itself flows through every aspect of creation. Every atom and cell and aspect of creation is encoded with both obeying the universal laws but equally the law of laws, which is Love itself. Seeming miracles and synchronistic occurrences are simply this latter law being witnessed.

The law of attraction is a powerful law. What we continue to focus on energetically in our thoughts manifests into the physical realm of experience. That is why visioning is essential. By holding a vision it manifests from the vision state to the dimensional state of this world.

The universe does not operate through our words or prayers to a certain deity or lack thereof. The universe is encoded to operate through our vibrational tone. Each vision, thought and thing carries a vibrational frequency or feeling with it. The words we use carry vibrational frequency as we associate the words with the feeling or resonant vibration. Just like a copper wire does not activate by saying the word electricity, it activates as the vibration of electricity flows. This flow occurs first as thought and then follows into form as we vision.

Living Love's Vision is about being in the same energetic vibration as Love itself. It is holding the same visions that Love does. Through this process 'heaven on earth' is set into motion both for you now and for the planet itself. It's like pouring fresh pure water into the fountain of your life and as it flows outward it nourishes the entire planet. Love is the highest vibration of all vibrations and transforms lesser vibrations. The light does not defeat the darkness; the darkness simply is no more when light enters. Love does the same.

Darkness has no source, light does.

9. Practical Love

Love itself is lavish and so infinitely abundant it will throw out seas of galaxies at the toss of a thought. Practical Love is not frugal in nature. Love understands that energy flows. The more that is given, the more returns to be given again. The law of the universe is that supply always exceeds the demand for it. Regardless of how much you flow in and give Love there is an infinite amount more. This applies to beauty, joy, compassion, deep relationships and living totally in bliss in this very moment now. This also applies in the physical world of money and other 'stuff' which also is all energy.

Practical Love is outrageously different from the 'world' perspective of beliefs in lack and limitation. The world projects beliefs such as there is competition for a limited supply and if you give then you will be left with nothing. The truth is as Michael Beckwith so profoundly states 'all that is comes from no thing and no where'.

Living Love's Vision is about understanding this law and maximizing it. There is an infinite supply of new ideas and ways of doing things thus competition is an illusion not required. This is about maximizing the gifts and capacities of ourselves and those around us while allowing Love to show us what it would have us share at any given time.

Every moment is the perfect opportunity to allow Love to resonate as and through you. Love is not subject to distance or challenges. Love can be sent to situations or persons far away and it has the same effect as if they were close by. Love is not concerned about barriers or challenges as nothing is too difficult for it. All the energy in the universe bows instantly to its vision.

Practical Love does not know small from big. When you are infinite in nature all are aspects of the one. At a grocery store line up or ordering coffee or in any other interaction with people Love can be sent to bless them in the silence of the inner being. Allow people to be exactly where they are at and Love them simply for the fact they are Life itself expressing on the planet in this form. Do not judge any aspect of what they are energetically projecting. Your role is to simply Love. If a person is resonating in lesser energy fields like anger, fear, selfishness and such there is no greater gift or healing that can be given than for them to energetically connect and experience the resolution of these. Only Love heals and brings the soothing salves people need in such times of being victim to these energies.

Practical Love is about shifting all your energy into projects, activities, business situations, and lifestyles that allow Love to freely and fully express through every aspect of your life. Love itself will show you the way.

Practical Love is outrageously lavish

10. Thriving

The Earth is filled with many ecosystems and organisms including our own human bodies. Each ecosystem was designed to thrive within certain environmental conditions working in perfect harmony together. When these systems are left in their natural state the planet thrives and a balance in nature occurs. Our own physical bodies are designed to eat certain foods, breath clean pure air, drink pure water, and be in nature with lots of exercise.

Thriving is about allowing the ecosystems to flow in the natural order in which they were designed. For centuries people have approached the ecosystems to take what they can get from the Earth's resources rather than working in perfect harmony with the planet. The solutions are already available for us to live in harmony with nature. Green environmentally friendly alternative energy sources, organic foods and buying local are a few of the many things we can do now.

Our bodies are designed to be in vibrant health and are encoded to thrive when proper conditions are met. Our inner lives, emotional, spiritual and creative flows also thrive when they are being fed. Beautiful music and surroundings, uplifting books and videos along with whatever else resonates in the vibrational frequencies of Love encourage this inner thriving. Beauty in, beauty out is as equally true as garbage in, garbage out.

Simple things like applying some feng shui techniques to your living environment or replacing unhealthy aspects with healthier ones can add a lot to generating a thriving life and environment. Living Love's Vision carries this intention within it.

Your choices make an incredibly powerful impact in the world when you are resonating in Love. The seemingly small activities like picking up some litter, speaking a kind word, giving a friendly smile to a stranger carry within these vibrational waves that are perhaps unseen by you but far reaching in their effects.

St. Francis of Assisi gave us a beautiful prayer that models this Love and thriving spirit. It is well worth reflecting on and visioning it as being so in your life.

Prayer of Saint Francis of Assisi

Lord, make me an instrument of your peace.
Where there is hatred, let me sow love;
where there is injury, pardon;
where there is doubt, faith;
where there is despair, hope;

where there is darkness, light;
and where there is sadness, joy.

Divine Master, grant that I may not so much seek to be consoled as to console;
to be understood as to understand;
to be loved as to love.
For it is in giving that we receive;
it is in pardoning that we are pardoned;
and it is in dying that we are born to eternal life. Amen

Prayer 'technology' has come a long way since St. Francis prayed this prayer. His beautiful soul was in a state of Love. The collective consciousness at that time for the most part prayed to an external deity whom they believed was separate from them. According to this belief the deity observed mankind and arbitrarily granted some prayers and said no to others. An example of a personalized therefore highly effective way to create the feeling tone of the Prayer of St. Francis is given here. Remember the universe responds to energetic feeling. It is the mental equivalent of what is imaged and projected out into the Unified Field that returns as answered prayer.

Prayer of Saint Francis of Assisi adapted by Chris Madsen

Divine Love, I am now an instrument of peace.
Where there was hatred, Love is now sown through me.
Where there was injury, pardon now is;
Where there was doubt, faith now fills me and is shared.
Where there was despair, I am now filled with hope and freely give it.
Where there was darkness, light now shines brightly.
And where there was sadness, joy fills my being and is as a fountain for all to drink from.

Love now grants beautiful ways to console others in my life with deep understanding.

Insights given through Love now freely show me how to touch lives with healing.

It is in giving that we receive.
It is in pardoning that we are pardoned.
And it is in dying that we are born to eternal life. Amen. So be it. It is done.

Within the Sun there are no shadows

11. Resonating In Love

Love does all the work. Your role is to allow. The allowing always happens in the now. This is not a 'to do next week' thing or like an exercise program. This is a state of being authentically conscious and willingly allowing Love to move in and as you. It is accomplished in each now moment regardless of what may be occurring in your surroundings. Driving, laying down to sleep, multi-tasking, in each moment the flow of Love can resonate from the core of your being outwards.

At times, particularly in meditation, you may experience moments of beautiful bliss and waves of serenity and a deep knowing oneness with all that is. At other times a neutral mode of feeling is the norm. This happens particularly when the tasks at hand are demanding a great deal of focused attention. Love itself is not dependent upon any such sensations any more than electricity flowing through a wire is dependent on it being felt. A person allowing Love is expressing Love with or without any accompanying sensations at any given moment.

Resonating in Love is not based on any religious, spiritual, or scientific beliefs. Those modalities can be wonderful stepping stones and have beautiful gifts to offer but ultimately they are pointers and guides leading to this state of being. Love is a state of consciousness of being Love in this moment regardless of whatever beliefs are currently held. Personal, deeply held beliefs can either shifted or no longer are believed at all. New insights means shifts in belief. What remains constant is Love itself. World peace will not come about by everyone finally holding a similar religious belief system. World peace will come about when hearts resonate in Love while allowing the diversity of beliefs to be a beautiful aspect of the fabric of humanity.

Resonating in Love is so simple it may stump some people for a time. There is no magic prayer or chant or initiation by some organization to resonate in Love. Resonating in Love occurs simply by allowing it to flow. Your intention and focus while allowing Love, is your part in resonating in Love. Although prayer, chanting, or being part of an organization may also have wonderful benefits.

The monkey mind doesn't like to stay focused on any given activity. This includes your allowing Love to flow through focused attention. This is where the practice of doing whatever you can to remember to give it attention comes in. As you surrender to Love the state of flowing in Love deepens through time. The greater your surrender is each day, the greater degree you are Living Love's Vision.

Words cannot describe this awakened place of being energetically connected in Love with the knowing you are in the perfect place exactly where you are to express what Love is expressing through you. Although words fail Love itself never fails. This moment Love itself is moving in your heart in teaching and sharing what words cannot. A stilled mind in silence can hear Love's gentle voice easily.

Aspects of Love are good to reflect on. Love permeates everything and is everywhere. Love is the true governing force of all that is. As free will beings we are given power on the planet to do just about anything. This is our sand box so to speak. Yet even here there are parameters we have no control over that Love does. The Sun ever shining, star constellations, and seasons are not based on our free will. Through our free will we can access aspects of Love, reflect on them, and in so doing multiply those traits within our self. Compassion, the ability to vision great things and call these into being, an effortless life of abundant joy, all these and so much more occur as aspects of Love are reflected on and accepted into our own expression of Love.

12. Beautiful Truths

Happiness is not determined by circumstances but by our thoughts in each circumstance. Every day is a new beginning to make beautiful moments. We remember moments, not hours or days, so a key in living Love is to create as many magic moments as possible. Being thankful brings great joy. There is always something to be thankful for, always.

True religion is simply a guide pointing to true love. 'God' is Love. Mother Theresa, Gandhi, and other powerhouses of Love didn't do just big things; they did small acts of Love on a consistent basis with all their heart. Love itself did the grandeur of expression through these willing vessels who were prepared to do whatever was required of them, regardless of how seemingly insignificant.

Wisdom teaches fullness of life and continually points to Love. Love has the power to bring the best outcome in each circumstance and situation we face. Wisdom allows such aspects of itself to flow effortlessly through and as you. Aspects such as being for-giving bring great healing and peace. That is also why what you desire in a relationship must be what you are willing to give in return.

Within you, this moment, is laid everything required for a full life. Your thoughts determine all you experience. Everything that is came first from a thought. That is why to have peace, simply be an instrument of peace. To prosper, do prosperous things by visioning and thinking prosperity. We do live in an abundant world. To be loved, simply love. What you give is what is returned in ever increasing amounts. Thus, prosperity in all its forms comes from the thoughts or willing heart desiring to give plus the act of sharing which then returns multiplied.

Everyone moves in the faith of what they believe to be true. By allowing Love's Vision to be in unison with your own true faith you are grounded in what is real. You are not your possessions, talents, accomplishments or career. You are a spiritual being having human experiences. And as a spiritual being you can give Love, harmony and peace. It is better to allow, give and share harmony than to win an argument in which no energetic accord is found.

You don't need to be what people expect you to be based on your past degrees of growth. You can demonstrate the shift in you that has now occurred. Each circumstance and meeting is an opportunity in disguise just as everyone in our life can be an opportunity for Love to be expressed.

Everyone deserves our Love. Love is not based on any aspect of being deserving. The fact that they are alive is reason enough. You do not have to love the actions from where a person is resonating to Love them. Love is unconditional. Unconditional Love is the only real love there is. The more you understand who you really are, the more you will love all humanity unconditionally.

Meditation which allows Love to envelope you also envelopes everything in your perception. Thus, enlightenment is not so much a place of arrival or a destination point but a state of being allowing the 'light' to flow through and as you. Physical matter is energy vibrating at frequencies our five senses can perceive. Almost everything is beyond this perception. Meditation which allows Love to envelope all of your being allows every aspect of you to energetically transfer the vibrational frequency of Love to all aspects of life, including that which is beyond the realm of the five senses. Your physical chemistry actually changes when positive and happy thoughts fill you. Love is the highest vibration there is.

We are not here primarily to learn but rather to Love. You can choose to be filled with Love each moment. Often conflicts in life are based on people's needs not being met. Love resolves conflict by revealing new solutions and visions that bring harmony. Happiness is not something you find, it is what you are. You can choose to be filled with happiness. Like Love, it is not dependent so much on external circumstances as much as allowing.

13. Cells of One Body

Dr. Bruce Lipton has concluded from years of research that each one of the trillions of cells in each human body is a body in and of itself. It digests, absorbs, and has receptors picking up information about the surrounding environment while responding to it along with many other functions we think of as being a physical body's job. It can be said that each of our unique bodies is comprised of trillions of unique cell bodies all with a role to play in the grand scheme of things.

Similarly, each person on the planet is a cell of the one body of humanity. Within each person's body is encoded the information that makes that person unique as well as the systems to maintain vibrant health. As well, within the body of all humanity is the encoding of how we can thrive as the one body of humanity. This encoding is at the heart level. This encoded information is Love itself.

Sickness occurs when some of the cells in the body cannot function as they were designed to function. This 'attack' on the body can be very mild or so extreme it can demonstrate as serious illness or even death. Thus, it is important to allow the body to be in a healthy environment, fed whole food, with plenty of exercise, healthy thoughts and positive emotions stimulating the cells.

Equally, the body of humanity requires each cell to function in the vibrant health for which it was designed. Each of us is a unique cell in the body of humanity. Thus, to the degree we are living our dharma is the degree we are contributing to the grander scheme of Life. Dharma essentially means our purpose and what we are at the core. A duck's dharma is to be a duck and do what ducks do. Our dharma is the same as Love itself. Living Love's Vision is the fulfillment of this dharma in each of our lives. To the degree it occurs in each heart is the degree the one body of humanity thrives.

An optimally alive cell feeds and brings health to many cells around it. As well, people who are resonating in high frequency send the healing energy far and wide. They draw on strength and abundance to share where it is required throughout the body. Love can be thought of in this manner. A candle which lights many others does not lose its own light. As we each individually share our light, or Love, it does not diminish our own supplies. On the contrary, the universe supplies us with even more of the same to yet give again. This beautiful flow is like the sea giving to the sky which rains upon the earth which fills the rivers which again fills the sea.

Each cell has a unique purpose and function that is its own singular purpose to fulfill. Each cell is derived from the same 'soup' of information and then attracts to it the design and characteristics to carry out its mission. We each have a unique place as well and the rest of the body is dependent on our response to the whole. One thing in common with all the 'cells' of humanity is each is designed to express Love. This is why we have bodies in the first place, to experience life on planet Earth while bringing into being greater expressions of Love as well.

Individuals sharing openly and freely in a beautiful flow of exchanges are required for a healthy community. A cell can damage other cells by placing its focus above those of surrounding cells. In turn, the cell itself is damaged because of interdependence with the damaged cells around it. A healthy vibrant cell supports and nourishes all the cells around it and together these cells make a vibrant body. It is wise to remember this whenever you are with others regardless of who they are.

Each of us is a unique expression of the One. The word One is capitalized here to drive home the point that we are One Consciousness. This One Mind is expressing its being through us. We have distinct personalities, histories, appearances and many other characteristics that make us unique. Trillions of snowflakes fall each year. Each one also has its own unique shape, size and location. Although each one is different they are all simply water expressing in various forms. Similarly, we are all unique but our essence is the One.

Unity in diversity creates harmony

14. Living Love's Vision

Living Love's Vision is being Love. By allowing yourself to be Love it is Love itself that expresses in, through and as you. The essence of each of us is already this Love because the One Source is this Love. We are the One. Being Love is allowing our greatness, our real 'Self' to express rather than the small 'self'. An aspect of Living Love's Vision is identifying your being as Love itself rather than a limited being separated from Source. Not only are you unlimited in your ability to be Love, you are Source itself expressing in human form with free will.

Living Love's Vision brings total access to the full power of Love. It changes the course of your life while instilling in you all the treasures of Love. Love teaches, gives wisdom, and directs each step and decision as you allow it to speak. Love doesn't need to speak in words; Love goes directly into your heart and clearly allows you understanding. Your heart in oneness with Love is Love in conversation with itself.

Love sheds beliefs, emotional wounds and all other 'baggage' we carry. It replaces these with real wisdom and knowledge from the knowing of the Creator of all that exists. Inner wounds are healed as baggage we have accumulated from past experiences is released. Where Love is allowed to flow the perfect expression of Love occurs. In all aspects of life it is our allowing of Love's flow that creates miracles and beautiful outcomes. That is why the most abundant life is not found by following the free will of the small 'self' which is limited in perception. The most abundant life possible for each of us is to follow the free will of the 'Self' which is unlimited in its perception. The capitalized word 'Self' can be interchanged with the word Love.

Your highest potentials realized are to allow your true authentic Self. You are then as a butterfly instead of a caterpillar. Both have essential roles in the life of a butterfly but in becoming the butterfly the full expression of its dharma is realized. That is why Love does not judge those still in the 'caterpillar' phase. For humanity the caterpillar phase can be dominated by fear, greed and a sense of separation from Source. The prevailing energies of the culture and world views, including religious views, permeate the person still in the caterpillar phase. Destructive energies are also an aspect of the caterpillar phase. This is based on a belief that the world needs to be taken from in order to survive.

A person in the 'butterfly' stage has been transformed by Love. Again, it is essential to recognize that Love does not judge others based on their growth from caterpillar to butterfly phases. Love demonstrates through being Love. Love accepts all beings on the planet as it prompts Love within each unique being to express. Love allows and accepts the consequences of each person's free will decisions. Love allows for each being to be transformed by Love and patiently waits until they allow Love to flow willingly.

Transforming each thought you think into alignment with Love is Living Love's Vision. Transforming your visions and goals into Love's vision and purpose is Living Love's Vision. The one purpose of Love is to Love in the eternal now without regard for any outcome. Vision is a mental equivalent akin to imagination. Imagination is like the field of rich soil that is plowed as the farmer envisions ideas of what will be grown there. Vision is the idea or knowing in consciousness of that which the imagination forms into being. Both of these create the mental equivalent or image of what is now transformed into an actual field thriving and growing what the farmer envisioned.

We each are like the farmer with an infinite field of possibilities. From this field of potentials we get to imagine what Love imagines through us. We then hold the same vision Love has. This Love transforms the vision into full expression as it emerges fully. This is Living Love's Vision.

Everything that is was first imagined

15. Where To From Here

According to Albert Einstein creativity is intelligence having fun. The infinite sea of energy which we live in is also infinite creative potential. All that exists was first a thought percolating in consciousness. From this fertile ground of imagination the vision coalesced into form. Out of seemingly nowhere it forms. Everything that is was first imagined.

We are the creative force. It is from aligning with the intentions or 'heart' of Love that our most beautiful creations originate. As we are aligned and resonating in unison with Love we can then imagine and vision in ways that will manifest powerfully. The creative process flows easily and masterfully when Love is allowed to work through and as you.

The final chapter of this book will always be a work in progress and never really finished. For this same reason Love itself is never finished. As well, you are also this creative being. The sky is a continual shifting of artful beauty. Each moment it is gradually transforming into the next masterpiece that is uniquely different from the ones past or the ones to follow. Sunsets and sunrises, star filled night skies and clouds sweeping across sunlit vivid blue, so too Love's vision is ever changing into new expressions as well. So are you.

Where to from here? That is up to you. You are a free will being that each moment votes with each thought and word spoken. You are free to recognize the prompting from the core of your being to allow Love to have its way totally and completely. This is the real you, the aspect of you that is eternal. Love reminds you of who you really are and why you are on the planet. Once you have caught the vision there is no turning back. Your essence is this Love now emerging into more expanded forms.

Living Love's Vision is each individuals own unique expression of Love. Each moment is your opportunity to be and express this beautiful Love. Your unique expression of Love is essential. Your personal place on the planet is vital to the collective awakening and shift that humanity is now undergoing. The fact you are reading these words is Love itself reminding you how important your ideas, visions and being are. You are Love itself expressing on the planet and you alone can express Love's vision for you, still your free will is required to say yes. Where to from here? That only depends on one thing which is how fully and completely you say yes.

Something is emerging in you waiting to burst into being. Allow it now. The key is to not go into false evidence appearing real syndrome and negative thinking. Remember that Love makes a way where there was none. If you are in alignment with Love's vision all things are possible now. You have the strength and resources of Infinite Source awaiting your commands. Now is the time, now is the place. You don't need to be concerned with any limitations the little self appears to be under. You are an expression of the whole of the Self which is unlimited. Your incarnation on the planet now in human form is how you as Love can complete your true mission. To bring Love into all recesses of existence and under all conditions is an amazing gift that you can give. Love equips you for this with all that is required here and now and throughout all phases of your life journey. No limits exist.

As you Live Love's Vision you will recognize many who are also doing the same. Without any common membership of any particular organization they are simply known by their Love.

As you finishing reading these words Living Love's Vision is now written in your heart. These words are meant to carry you to the 'book' that is your very being that already knows and is Living Love's Vision. Burn into your heart that the real Living Love's Vision is your Love, your heart, your essence. The words used are simply the means Love itself is using in this moment. Each moment may your Love be ever expressing and Living Love's Vision.

18. Ways to Have Quantum Shifts Now

We are all cells of the one body of humanity nurturing each other through communication, energetic exchanges, and physical interactions as well. Within the physical body there are those cells that supply distinctive properties to the other cells. Each cell has its unique and special gifts to exchange with others, so too each of us is a cell in the body of humanity.

If you require assistance in life go to the 'cells' or people that have the desired properties and exchange what you have to offer. This beautiful dance is ever flowing. A quantum shift now in your life can occur by connecting with people who have made the shift and are now Living Love's Vision in grounded clarity. Everything is energy. Money, services, products and all other forms of exchanges are all forms of energy being exchanged. These exchanges occur daily in each of our lives.

In addition to this book and website 'Living Love's Vision' expresses through a group of individual 'cells' who are people who have gone through quantum shifts and are like candles lighting other candles. It is essential to remember that no one person or group has the corner on assisting others through this shift any more than one group of cells has the corner on transferring healing energy to the body. However 'Living Love's Vision' is a group of people who using many modalities have done extensive inner work and are well equipped to mentor and assist in allowing quantum shifts in your life now. Communication on a one to one basis is how cells in the body work. It is also how the shifts into living life to the fullest can more easily occur. Discussion on a one to one personal level brings clarity and gives you the tools required based on the specifics of where you are at currently on your personal journey.

Through livinglovesvision.com mentoring or other ongoing sessions can be organized for you or your group. 'Living Love's Vision' play shops, retreats, speaking engagements, and Love Concerts are offered as a means by which to connect energetically as cells of the one human body while Love in fills and flows through all.
